This is a body sherd with a smooth unscored side. The unscored side is not burnt or gray. The scored side is burnt across the entire surface. The scoring is light - at most .1cm deep and .2cm wide. The lines are V-shaped and the shapes made by the lines are ~~squares~~ diamonds. On a broken edge, a firing core as thick as the sherd (.78cm) is seen. There is no handle attached to this piece, nor is there a scar from a handle. The unscored side appears slipped.
